

James Backstrom win cited in “Behavioural Matter of the Year – Americas” at the 2023 GCR Awards

March 30, 2023

James Backstrom was honored in connection with his role securing the dismissal of price-fixing and bid-rigging charges brought by the United States Department of Justice’s Antitrust Division against his client, an executive in the chicken supply industry. The government dismissed his client from the convoluted conspiracy case after two juries each failed to reach a verdict. The case was named “Behavioural Matter of the Year – Americas” at Global Competition Review’s 2023 Awards. The awards recognize the biggest cases from 2022 and honor the world’s leading antitrust lawyers, economists, enforcers and academics.

The GCR 2023 Awards were presented on March 28, 2023, in Washington DC.
